The Illusion of Progress - Wikipedia

An optical illusion (also called a visual illusion) is an illusion caused by the visual system and characterized by a visual percept that (loosely said) appears to differ from reality. Illusions come in a wide variety; their categorization is difficult because the underlying cause is often not clear but a classification proposed by Richard Gregory is useful as an orientation.

Regarding how to display the progress bar I™d like to add that it depends on how accurately the time can be estimated. A progress bar that jumps back and forth between 4 hours and 32 minutes simply because the speed of the connection varies is less helpful than one that says 43%, even if it takes an hour in total.
