Just the Facts, Ma'am! January 1, 2017 4 beekeeping, it is our responsibility to say what we mean and mean what we say. If we say honey bees are declining without explaining that we don't mean total inventories, just that industry-wide same-year growth is less than desired, we are lying to people. Lying is a bad thing.

Telling what happened is about facing facts and not straying from them, which is critical when navigating change. Use "What happened?" as a way to move away from the dryness of the features of the products you're selling. Over time, "What happened?" reminds us to keep things simple and to stick to the facts.

Just the Facts, Ma'am By Anna Von Reitz I am tired of arguing with ill-informed, well-intentioned Americans who have been lied to and deliberately confused for so many years they don't know which end is up and can't even read well. So I have boiled the Big Picture down to little couplets and sound bites.
